2005 Quinta do Correio, Dão - $10 Portugal

Dry Portuguese red wines, especially those from the Dão region in north central Portugal, are making a big splash thanks to their strikingly unique bouquets, their food-friendliness and their affordability.

Tasting Notes: Quinto do Correio's Vinho Tinto, a classic blend of 40% Jaen (Tinta Mencia), 30% Touriga Nacional, 20% Alfrocheiro and 10% Tinto Roriz, opens with an opaque black-plum color and bright, spicy aromas of freshly crushed cranberries, pink peppercorns and mace. Brisk, lively and highly distinctive on the palate, the Correio continues with suggestions of cherries, smoked paprika, fruitwood smoke and air-dried beef. Intense and structured on the back-palate with plentiful round tannins and crisp acidity, the Correio transitions to a long, bright finish, reprising notes of red fruits, smoked/cured meats and freshly ground exotic spices.

Pair with: This is a lovely choice for antipasti plates, pork or beef rubbed with smoky Spanish pimentón, salamis, teriyaki and other marinated and seasoned meats.

LOUREIRO MUROS ANTIGOS - $10

PORTUGAL

From the Winery: This is a 100% white Loureiro wine. This wine is made from grapes which vineyards are selected by Anselmo Mendes. Muros Antigos Loureiro wine has just appeared in the market in 2006.

Tasting Notes: Pronounced youthful aromas of pine, lime, bay leaf and mineral. Very complex. Dry, balanced acidity and medium body. Very ripe and round notes of cilantro, lime, ginger, white cranberry, shale and bayleaf.

Pairing Suggestions: Pairs well with fish or sea food.
